

MAY EXPLAIN BENTON CASE.

Statement by Carranza Is Expected This Week.

Rebel Chief Wishes to Make His Position Clear.

General Sees No Reason to "Back Down" Anywhere.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

MEXICO (Son., Mex.) March 8.—A prediction was made by Gen. Carranza's advisors tonight that the Constitutional commander-in-chief would issue a more complete explanation of his position in the Benton and similar cases before beginning his march into Chihuahua State, which will take him for two weeks out of communication. Assurances were given, however, that nothing had been heard either from the State Department at Washington or Gen. Villa, which had altered the situation nor that any news had come from the Mexican commission investigating the incident.

Those closely in touch with Gen. Carranza's plans indicated that the insurgent leader merely wished to give before his departure a more complete explanation of his stand in the matter of Benton and all other subjects of nations which had recognized the Huerta government. This would be done, they believed, in order to allay what was considered as a misunderstanding of Carranza's meaning implied in the recent Washington note.

The report from El Paso that Secretary Bryan had interested himself in the case of Luis Terrazas, Jr., held by Villa's insurgents, seemed to occasion much surprise among officials here. Doubt was expressed that the Washington government would take up the matter with Villa or Carranza, a matter which purely involved dealings with a Mexican citizen, especially in view of Carranza's stand in the matter of Benton, a Briton.

It was said that Carranza in no way would change his assertion that matters pertaining to a foreigner should be taken up by agents of his government.

Carranza cast international difficulties to the four winds today and paid a social visit to the mining town of Nacozari, below this border point. It was said that he might not start upon his march into the eastern border State until Tuesday.

WANT VILLA TO TESTIFY.

COMMISSION TO SEND MEMBER TO INTERVIEW HIM.

And by the Time We Make Our Report on Benton's Death, Dechen Gen. Francisco, It Is Hoped Public Indignation Will Have Died Down.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

JUAREZ, March 8.—At a conference held in the office of Gen. Ramon Franco, president of the International commission, this afternoon, it was decided to send a member of the commission to Chihuahua to obtain the testimony of Gen. Villa relative to the killing of Benton.

"Probably it will be two months or more before the commission can make an intelligent report," said the president officer. "By that time it is hoped that public indignation will have cooled down."

Word from Chihuahua indicates that Villa again is in a savage mood and despite the pressure brought to bear in the insurance of Luis Terrazas, it is believed that the commander will carry out his threats unless the money is paid over before 12 o'clock tonight.

Another report states that Villa intends to give the aged father one more chance to raise the quarter of a million demanded.

Rumors of an international intervention are current and the local officials have started again to abuse the "Gringos." While there were many American visitors during the day, nearly every one left at nightfall on account of the danger of arrest.

Another break in the money market is predicted when the banks open tomorrow.

MAKE OF YOUR YARD A BOWER OF ROSES.

Where Pleasant Sights Will Greet the Eyes

And Pleasant Scents the Noses.

Nothing adds so much to the enchantment of Southern California as the beautiful, fragrant roses, which here grow in rich profusion throughout the year. Flowers not only enhance the attractiveness of the landscape, but they radiate gentleness and refinement, beckon to the great out-of-doors, and are a source of perpetual joy and delight.

Actuated by an earnest desire to do its utmost to make a success of the great Flower Festival, which will be held in Los Angeles in 1915, The Times has made arrangements with the best nurserymen in Southern California to supply roses to Times patrons absolutely free. A selection of six distinct varieties will be given to each patron, old or new.

All that is necessary to do to take advantage of this unusual opportunity to obtain six of these splendid plants, is to agree to take The Times for six months at the regular subscription price of 75 cents per month. Old subscribers can procure the plants by agreeing to extend their subscription for a period of six months.

Do not be an inactive, do-nothing citizen, but display some civic pride, get in touch with nature, and enjoy the peace and serenity induced by the aroma of blooming flowers.

Additional information relative to the presentation to Times subscribers of six rose plants of rare worth may be obtained by calling at The Times office or telephoning Main 8200 or Home 10391.

Texans Invade Mexico.

Vergara's body and brought it to Laredo.

An examination of Vergara's body made in the cemetery showed several bullet wounds. The skull had been crushed and the hands charred, indicating the American stockman had been tortured before being beaten and hanged. Numerous other bruises and indignities were indicated upon him. The body was attired in trousers, undershirt and hose. From the time Vergara was lured across the Rio Grande and captured, a friend had kept close watch on developments and knew every movement of his captors, including the American's execution and his burial.

This knowledge is expected to play an important part in developments of the inquiry that doubtless will be inaugurated by the United States government.

The quick action of the armed Texan started the border country. It is known that American Consul Garrett and his assistants were in the vicinity of the "invasion," but what part they played, if any, in the affair, was not known here late tonight.

At the time of the disappearance of Vergara, the commander of the troops, Nuevo Laredo gave out a statement that the American after his "arrest" had been taken to Hidalgo and jailed, that he had escaped, and joined a band of Constitutionists.

It is known that ever since the disappearance of Vergara, Ranger Captain Saunders has been acting under instructions from the Governor and a few days ago the Governor ordered Capt. Sanders to file charges of horse theft against the four Mexican soldiers, who at the time they lured Vergara across the international boundary line took along with them eleven horses. These charges were filed a few days ago at Laredo and the Governor hopes to be able to extradite the Mexicans.

Any doubt as to whether the island where the abduction took place lies in Mexican or American territory was dispelled tonight when the surveyor of Webb county, Texas, wired Gov. Colquitt that he had made a careful survey and it showed absolutely to lie in American territory.

When seen after his return this evening, United States Consul Garrett said he had nothing to give out regarding the securing of Vergara's body except that it was delivered to him. He stated he had announced several days ago that the body had been located but did not know where it would be delivered to the American side.

Vergara's wife and son accompanied the remains to Laredo but neither of them would talk. Mrs. Vergara said she found consolation in the fact that her husband's remains would be buried on American soil, where he was born and reared.

COLQUITT DENIES GIVING ORDERS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

AUSTIN (Tex.) March 8.—Texas Rangers last night crossed the international boundary into Mexico, disinterred the body of Clemente Vergara, the Texas rancher who was lured into Mexico by Mexican Federal soldiers, and returned with the body to American soil.

Gov. Colquitt, who recently was refused permission by the State Department to send the Rangers across the Rio Grande to pursue the alleged slayers of Vergara, would make no comment tonight on the incident or on whether Capt. Sanders, who commanded the Rangers, acted under instructions from him.

"We wanted Vergara's body to determine the manner of his death and we have it," the Governor said tersely, and added: "Some people may call this an 'invasion,' but it was not. The official report of Capt. Sanders on the incident was given out by the executive department. It simply said: 'I proceeded to Hidalgo, procured Vergara's body and returned it to Laredo.'"

Gov. Colquitt authorized tonight a statement that he did not instruct Rangers Captain J. J. Sanders to recover Clemente Vergara's body, to cross the border to get it.

BRYAN ON A TOUR, OFFICIALS SILENT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, March 8.—No official advice had been received tonight about the recovery of the body of Clemente Vergara. Secretary Bryan was en route from Springfield, Mass., where he addressed today a Y.M.C.A. meeting and was not expected here until early tomorrow.

While official comment on the incident was lacking, the fact that the incident had been given out by the executive department. It simply said: "I proceeded to Hidalgo, procured Vergara's body and returned it to Laredo."

The evidence gathered by the Texas authorities as to Vergara's execution will be used by the State Department in renewing its representations to the Huerta government for punishment of the offenders. A full report is expected by State Department officials from Consul Garrett tomorrow.

THE CASE OF SNYMAN.

Great interest was manifested today in the case of Gen. W. B. Snymann, the former Boer general, who has been ordered from his 1800-acre ranch, La Riena, forty-five miles south of Chihuahua, and the estate itself confiscated.

Snymann is well known here. He was one of the leaders in forming a Boer colony in Mexico after the British triumph in South Africa. He was born a Boer, but became naturalized as a Briton and before the war was elected to the Cape Assembly.

Specifically, Snymann is accused of allowing the Federals to use his ranch as a recruiting headquarters of the Boer forces. He is now in the hands of the British, who are treating him as a prisoner of war.

Snymann's case is a subject of much interest to the British, who are treating him as a prisoner of war.

MILITANTS FIGHT POLICE IN TRAFALGAR SQUARE.

Riot Starts After Detectives Nab Sylvia Pankhurst at a Meeting of the English Suffragettes and Take Her to Holloway Jail in a Cab—Miss Zelle Emerson, the Michigan "Undesirable Alien," Is Also Arrested.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

LONDON, March 8.—Militant suffragettes again engaged in battle with the police today on their favorite site, Trafalgar Square, in pouring rain. The arrest of Sylvia Pankhurst for the sixth time under the "cat and mouse" act, precipitated the conflict. In addition to Miss Pankhurst, seven women and three men were arrested.

Among those arrested was Miss Zelle Emerson of Jackson, Mich. Miss Emerson has been arrested several times for participation in suffragette demonstrations and recently there were rumors that she had been taken by the British government to deport her as an undesirable alien. Replied February 28 to a question as to whether this report was true, Reginald McKenna, the Home Secretary, asserted no such steps were being taken.

"If Miss Emerson again commits an offense bringing her within the provision of the act, the question of applying to the court for a recommendation for her expulsion will be considered."

STYLIA SCOOPED IN.

Several women and men had marched in procession to Trafalgar square to attend a meeting of the Men's Federation for Woman Suffrage. Sylvia Pankhurst, who for some weeks has been hiding from the police, arrived in the square in a taxicab to deliver a speech, but detectives surrounded the cab and started it for Holloway Jail before the militants realized what was happening.

When it was discovered that Miss Pankhurst had been abducted, the chairman of the meeting, Miss Patterson, among those arrested, shouted to her supporters to follow the lead of the Nelson column. "Follow the flag and see if we can't find something to do."

The militants then surged toward the government buildings in Whitehall with the suffrage banner borne aloft, but a cordon of mounted police barred their way and the women assailed the police with short sticks, but the marchers were soon dispersed.

REPEAL.

WILL EXPOSE TERRAZAS TO FIRE OF FEDERALS.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

EL PASO (Tex.) March 8.—Non-payment of the ransom demanded as the price of the life of Luis Terrazas, Jr., will not result in the execution of the prisoner, according to a telegram received tonight from Gen. Villa at Chihuahua.

Information as to the telegram came from rebel agents, but these added that Gen. Villa most certainly would expose Terrazas to the enemy's fire at Torreon unless the prisoner's fate, Gen. Luis Terrazas, refrains from political activity.

The younger Luis, it is asserted, always has been held principally as a hostage to control, if possible, his father's efforts in behalf of Gen. Huerta. Even after repeated warnings it is said the elder Terrazas has aided the Mexican government with men and money, until a week ago Gen. Villa declared that his presence was at an end.

The latter's decision to waive the question of ransom was made by Gen. Huerta, supreme chief of the revolution, and by his agents.

GARZA'S WARNING.

A telegram to Gen. Francisco Garza from Gen. Villa pointed out today that to execute Terrazas for non-payment of ransom would be a barbaric act, coming on top of the indignities he had suffered since his arrest.

large. He advises me that he did not go into Mexico at all, but was informed that the body of Vergara would be delivered on the Texas side of the river at a place named at 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning. He went there and found it. As to who brought it across the river he says he does not know. He said he had no assistance in this transaction except from the family and relatives of Vergara, who fully identified the body.

The Governor talked with Capt. Saunders over the long-distance telephone for a long time tonight and the foregoing was the substance of the conversation as far as it related to the recovery of the body of the missing American.

REBELS CLOSE IN TOWARD TAMPIOCO.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)

VERA CRUZ, March 8.—A wireless dispatch from the United States cruiser Des Moines at Tampico said a battle was fought today west of Altamira, ten miles northwest of Tampico. A force of 1000 rebels overpowered the inferior Federal advance columns, which retreated toward Tampico, where active preparations are being made to defend the city.

Strong reliance for the defense of Tampico is placed in the gunboat Vera Cruz, which is guarding the water approach to the city.

On receipt of the message Rear-Admiral Fletcher ordered the hospital ship Solace and the battleships Minnesota and Connecticut to proceed to Tampico. Admiral Fletcher also communicated the news to the foreign war commanders here.

The Solace has started for Tampico and was followed by the German cruiser Dresden, the British cruiser Hermione and the Minnesota and Connecticut. The Mexican gunboat Zaratema also is en route to Tampico after taking on troops.

He expects to return to his home against Porfirio Diaz, but he is said to have maintained a neutral attitude since then.

George C. Carothers, special agent of the State Department, went to Douglas, Ariz., today to confer with Gen. Huerta, who is expected to return tonight and leave tomorrow for Chihuahua, the headquarters of Gen. Villa. He will remain with Villa throughout the Torreon campaign.

Benton, who was killed here, who was killed at Juarez, February 17, and of Gustav Bauch, tried by court-martial and whose subsequent disappearance has been the subject of investigation.

The attorney will report to the commission.

All predictions point to the option of exclusion from the working home rule bill being offered to Ulster counties by Premier Asquith, but it is impossible to predict the reception such a proposal would meet with in the House of Commons on the question.

After Premier Asquith makes his statement, Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons, will reply, as also will Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader. But the attitude of the opposition is likely to be revealed as it has been planned to postpone all debate on the measure for a fortnight.

EXPECT DEBATE ABOUT MEXICO.

Subject Bound to Arise in the Senate Today.

Members Are Unable to Sit Watching and Waiting.

Action on Tolls Repeal to Hold Over a Week.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

WASHINGTON, March 8.—In spite of the efforts of the administration to prevent public discussions of the subject, a general debate on the Mexican situation probably will be precipitated tomorrow on the floor of the Senate in open session.

Senator Fall of New Mexico, long an advocate of aggressive action on the part of the United States in dealing with the troubled southern neighbor, has given notice of his intention to speak, and is expected to vigorously attack President Wilson's waiting policy. To meet the attack, Senator Shively of Indiana, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has obtained from the State Department latest reports on the situation in Mexico and is ready to speak in defense of the President's attitude.

While only the two set speeches are scheduled, other Senators undoubtedly will have something to say, and Senate leaders are looking for a general, free-for-all discussion covering all phases of the problem.

POLLS REPEAL.

There will be no action during the week on the President's appeal for repeal of the provision of the Panama Canal Act exempting American coastwise shipping from tolls. This subject of absorbing interest will be before the Senate committee and will be discussed informally on the House side until the House has disposed of the pending rivers and harbors appropriation bill and is ready to take up the Sims repeal bill already reported by the Interstate Commerce Committee. Advocates of repeal have polled both houses and promise overwhelming majorities to support the repeal.

When the Sims bill is taken up in the House two days of debate will be proposed by Representative Adamson of Georgia, leader of the administration fight.

The Senate committee on Intercommerce will consider this week either flat repeal or compromise to give the President discretionary authority to regulate the tolls and assess charges.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Steps to prevent a possible invasion of Nevada by "Gen." Kelley's army of unemployed were taken last night at a meeting of State, city and county officials. A telegram was sent by Gov.
Oddie to Gov. Johnson of California, declaring Nevada's law prohibited the importation of indigent paupers or incompetents and expressing belief that California will not directly or indirectly cause a violation of the law.

Plans were also made for the cooperation of the State police, the county sheriff and the city police in any action that may be deemed necessary on further developments.

The meeting was attended by Attorney General, Superintendent of State Police, the County Commissioner, United States District Attorney, Sheriff and deputies, Mayor, City Councilmen and city police, besides officials of Sparks.

DEFIANT IN BOSTON.
BOSTON, March 8.—Resolutions advancing men and women who are not satisfied with the present condition of the world, and who are determined to maintain themselves, were adopted at a mass meeting of the unemployed.

Society having failed to give him work, the man who is unemployed is excluded from operation of its law.
The result, it is claimed, is that such a man is therefore authorized and obliged to preserve life by his own efforts; that he must therefore take food, clothing and shelter where he can, regardless of social edicts against him doing so.

"Work" for I. W. W.

OMAHA, March 8.—If Kelley's army of hoboes now in California ever lives to reach Nebraska every last man is to be offered a job. If they accept they will be put to work. If they refuse, they will neither be fed nor passed on their way.

Members of the Omaha Commercial Club are getting ready to spring a surprise on the hoboes when they arrive.
Those who escape the farmers along the way from Cheyenne to Omaha will be taken in hand here and offered positions in whatever line of industry they know. A position will be offered to each one, and the conservice will be "work or nothing to eat."

original material not elsewhere accessible.

George A. Holderness,

new Encyclopaedia Britannica of immense value,
but to my boy in the High School it is simply essential."

About the last hours of Admiral Nelson, who, when dying of his wound in the battle of Trafalgar, in the cockpit of the Victory, said:
"I have done my duty, thank God for that."

About Florence Nightingale, the heroic nurse, watching at the bedside of wounded soldiers in the Crimea.

How Alexander the Great as a boy warrior and dreamer set out to conquer the world.

About types and type-setting, bridge-building, ships and shipbuilding.

About any kind of machine, any invention, about strange lands and peoples; how things are made.

About any kind of animal, insect, fish or bird, about the things that are found in the earth or that grow up out of it, about any kind of indoor or outdoor game or sport, by experts, such as Walter Camp, who writes on football.

Children read the Britannica because it is the most interesting fact book in the world. It encourages them to teach themselves. And the Britannica trains for power. It is an education in itself.

But you need not be a School-boy or School-question-answerer and library store of good reading. In its 44,000,000 words (the actual equivalent of 440 ordinary volumes compressed into less than 3 ft. of shelf-room) the wonderful library of libraries gives you the essentials of all the knowledge that exists to-day in every field of practical ac-

The reasonable price of the book with the convenient plan of

UNIONISM HIT

Action of Mill Owners Is

Other Industries Join in the Fight for Freedom.

(BY HERBERT WIRE—SPECIAL DISPATCH)
TACOMA, March 8.—Energetic action by mill owners and others at Everett, Raymond, South Bend and elsewhere to operate under open shop conditions at once will probably prevent a general strike in the forest industry May 1, when timber workers intended striking for an eight-hour day.

So successful has the open-shop movement been that a strike seems unlikely. Instead, the union leaders will submit to the voters next November a proposed State law making eight hours constitute a working day in all industries. This is opposed by fishermen and many other workers.

The Case Shingle Company of Raymond, with three mills, is the world's largest manufacturer of shingles. Thursday and Friday President Case opened all three mills with non-union laborers. He gave former employees opportunity to resume work under open-shop conditions without recognition of unions.

President Case says: "The death knell of unionism in our mills was sounded when the whistle blew Thursday at mill No. 1 and former employees failed to return to work. No man working for us before the recent walkout will ever again work in our plants. All our mills will be operated with non-union labor."

Other Raymond and South Bend plants are pursuing a similar plan. Workmen are plentiful, flocking in from other communities. Only 2 per cent. of 1500 men now employed at the Raymond mills are union members.

Associated manufacturers representing lumber, shingle, fish and fertilizer industries yesterday formed the Associated Manufacturers' League to preserve open-shop rule, to oppose arbitrariness of unions and to fight the eight-hour day.

Santa Fe will Provide Ample Equipment

There is some anxiety in the minds of visitors now in California about getting the sleeping car accommodations they desire to take them back home, especially during April and May. This notice is to assure all those with tickets reading by the Santa Fe that provision will be made for extra cars and extra trains sufficient to make everyone comfortable.

To do this efficiently, we must know in advance what demands will be made on us, and this makes it desirable and almost necessary that sleeping car space should be bought as far in advance of the date of departure as may be possible for travelers to determine.

The extra cars required must be brought from the East and we are prepared to do this and to run extra sections of any or all of the following trains:

- No. 20, The Santa Fe De Luxe to Chicago, Tuesdays only
- No. 4, California Limited to Chicago, daily
- No. 2, Tourist Flyer to Chicago, daily
- No. 10, Overland Express to Chicago, daily
- No. 8, Eastern Express to Chicago, daily
- No. 16, The Saint to San Francisco, daily

PAYS ITS TOLL.

LAIR OF THE LAST ROULETTE WHEEL RAIDED.

Roomful of Gambling Paraphernalia Seized and Two Men Arrested—If There Were Players They Escaped—Police Enter by Climbing to Top Floor of Building.

The lair of the last roulette wheel was raided by the police early yesterday morning. It was tucked away in a temple of fortune on the fourth floor of an office building at No. 135 South Broadway. There it was guarded by H. T. Faust, the manager of the club known as the Los Angeles Commercial Club.

The roulette wheel, the last of its kind, so far as known, in this section of the State, was the most imposing of all the paraphernalia in the haunts where three of a kind were greatly cherished and four of a kind were religion itself.

Police Sergeant Hoover and assistants climbed to the fortified recesses of the roulette wheel's lair after midnight. They did not knock to enter. Instead they broke the door. When they rushed into the room they found the roulette wheel still spinning in its merry travels of chance. But all had fled but Faust and Frank Petersen.

The police confiscated all the paraphernalia, including the $1000 roulette wheel, the faro outfit and the crap and poker tables. Several hundred decks of cards were found, whole troves of play chips and much other stuff the amusee the anxious.

POMONA CONCERNS EXPEDITE SHIPMENTS AS SOON AS RAILROADS ARE OPENED TO TRAFFIC—NEWS BRIEFS.
POMONA, March 8.—The Repertoire-street and Park-avenue orange packing-houses of the Pomona Fruit Growers' Exchange are now rushing the business of packing the fruit crop which is going forward to meet an improving market, the railroads having recovered from the flood damage which tied up traffic for some time. Six carloads of oranges are being shipped from Pomona each day, and the several packing-houses in the valley affiliated with the San Antonio Fruit Exchange bring the total of Pomona Valley up to an average of twenty-five cars a day. This number will soon be increased.

Secretary F. J. Dreher of the San Antonio Exchange states that there is every reason to look for excellent prices for the fruit henceforth this season, the present increase in prices being but the beginning of still better returns to be received as the season advances.

NEWS BRIEFS.
City Building Inspector Cowles is making an effort to have the City Council increase the limits wherein more than two cows can be kept on premises within the city limits. In the western part of the city there are many acres that are fitted for small dairies, but are at present in the restricted district. Mr. Cowles favors extending the boundaries along Orange Grove avenue to Hamilton avenue, down Hamilton avenue to Ninth street, east on Ninth to Monrovia street, south on Monrovia to Grand avenue, east on Grand to Towne, north on Towne to Fifth, east on Fifth to San Antonio, north on San Antonio avenue to San Bernardino avenue, and westward to the junction of Orange Grove avenue.

President Case says: "The death knell of unionism in our mills was sounded when the whistle blew Thursday at mill No. 1 and former employees failed to return to work. No man working for us before the recent walkout will ever again work in our plants. All our mills will be operated with non-union labor."

Other Raymond and South Bend plants are pursuing a similar plan. Workmen are plentiful, flocking in from other communities. Only 2 per cent. of 1500 men now employed at the Raymond mills are union members.

Associated manufacturers representing lumber, shingle, fish and fertilizer industries yesterday formed the Associated Manufacturers' League to preserve open-shop rule, to oppose arbitrariness of unions and to fight the eight-hour day.

Thin Blood Causes Backache

Every muscle in the body needs a supply of rich, red blood in proportion to the work it does.
The muscles of the back are under heavy strain and have but little rest.
When the blood is thin they lack nourishment and rebel. The result is a sensation of pain in those muscles.
The best medical authorities agree that backache seldom or never means kidney trouble. Real organic kidney disease may have progressed to a critical point without developing a pain in the back. Doctors detect its presence by the excretions of the kidneys themselves.

Pain in the back should always lead the sufferer to look to the condition of the blood. It will be found in most cases that the use of Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood will stop the grumbling of the ill-nourished muscles of the back.
How much better it is to try Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills for the blood than to give way to unreasonable alarm about your kidneys. If you suspect your kidneys, any doctor can make tests in ten minutes that will set your fears at rest or tell you the worst.

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A free book, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent on request by the men. However, Olcott estimates that the registration will reach 250,000 this year.

According to this estimate as a basis, less than one-third of the voters have registered. To reach this estimate by May 1 will require an average weekly registration of over 14,000 voters.
This will be an average of 4000 a day.

Reports from all counties are that the women voters are proving resistant in qualifying as compared to the men.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
DALLAS (Tex.) March 8.—Demoday perfected plans for nominat-other State officers to oppose at the State primaries in July a ticket already named by Prohibition Democrats. It was agreed to hold pre-which delegates to a nominating convention at Ft. Worth, April 14, will be selected.

There are six announced candi-

Brooklyn Druggists in Charge of Postoffice Substations Announce Resignations Unless Pay Is Raised.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
NEW YORK, March 8.—Seventy-two Brooklyn druggists in charge of postoffice substations, who have formed a Postoffice Clerks-in-Charge Association because they are dissatisfied with conditions since the advent of the parcel post, announced last night they would resign in a body unless they received additional compensation.

The pay of these contract clerks ranged from $100 to $1000 a year, and no allowance has been made them for taking care of the parcel post.
The service now rendered the government, the druggists postmaster say, is worth at least $2000 a year.

"TO DEFEAT COFFIN TRUST"

Missouri Farmer Gets Ready Material for His Coffin Months Before He Dies.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)
MACON (Mo.) March 8.—Arlington Simpson, 72 years old, was buried today at Calico, Mo., in a coffin made of walnut lumber, cut and prepared by him. Simpson, who died Saturday at his farm near here, made preparations for his funeral months ago, getting ready the materials for his casket and arranging for its manufacture, in order, he said, "to defeat the coffin trust."

Carpenters worked last night to put the coffin together. Recently Simpson had made several coffins that he offered at cost "to aid poor people," he announced, "in evading the burial combine."

Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

A. L. DENNIS, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is and has been for three years Superintendent of Circulation of the Los Angeles Times; that the above stated statement of circulation for the month of February, 1914, is correct, and shows the circulation of the Times for each day of the month named.

Notarially sworn and sworn to before me this 4th day of March, 1914.

T. L. CHAPIN,
Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

The Times is the only newspaper in Los Angeles that does not make a practice of permitting agents, newsboys and dealers to return unsold copies of its issue. Neither does it misbrand or predate its editions, or believe its circulation by printing more copies than are actually necessary to supply its patrons.

The Times' entire circulation is practically set, and it is more genuine and superior in every respect to that of any other newspaper.

RECORD-BREAKING CROWD.

Redondo Thronged With Visitors From Interior Who Desired to Escape the Unusual Heat.

REDONDO BEACH, March 8.—Today was a record-breaker as far as crowds and the number of automobiles are concerned. Incidentally it was the hottest day of the year, the thermometer registering 84 deg. at noon in the shade.

The bath-house and beach were crowded with bathers and sightseers and all the attractions and places of amusement did an extremely large business. The traffic officers had their hands full and had to use the side streets and empty lots for additional parking places. Sunday was the third day of warm weather.

BICYCLE STOLEN.

Oral Kendall and Stanley Merritt, two boys about 14 years of age, were arrested by Officer Berly for the theft of a bicycle. The officer's attention was called to the boys by their lavish expenditure of money and upon being questioned, they did not give very satisfactory answers, so were locked up on suspicion. Word was received at police headquarters of a missing bicycle from in front of the Polytechnical High School in Los Angeles, and the youths upon again being questioned, acknowledged their guilt. Kendall, however, made a confession that he alone was the guilty party and told the officers where it had been sold and later on it was recovered. The boys were taken to Los Angeles and turned over to the authorities. Merritt will also be held and his conduct investigated, as he is out on probation.

CHINAMAN ENDS IT.

Sailor on Standard Oil Tanker Leaps into the Sea and Is Drowned.—News Briefs.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
SAN PEDRO, March 8.—Having been told that he had tuberculosis and could not recover, Ah Fang, a Chinese sailor on the Standard Oil tanker Sequoia, committed suicide this afternoon. Picking up the mat upon which he had been laying in the fore-cabin the weak and emaciated Celestial walked out on the deck and threw the mat overboard. Then he jumped in after it. His body was not recovered.

In case the owners of the steamer are not able to prove the death of the Chinese to the satisfaction of the Immigration Department, the company may be subject to a fine of $500. Under the immigration laws the steamer is supposed to have the same crew when she clears as was shown upon the manifest when she arrived. The Sequoia is loading the first cargo of oil well supplies that the Standard has ever taken to the Orient from this port. The steamer arrived from Hongkong last week and San Francisco will be here a week or more. She is loading at the Crescent wharf.

HARD LUCK WEEK.

The Independent steamer Hanael had a round trip of hard luck last week. On the trip down from San Francisco the cylinder head on one of her engines broke, and she was towed into port by the steamer Mandalay. After being laid up for repairs several days, she sailed for return, but no sooner did the steamer arrive at San Francisco than she had to be sent to drydock to repair a broken tail shaft. The steamer Daisy Gadsby was chartered to make the run between this port and San Francisco, while the Hanael is laid up and arrived here today with a partial cargo of freight, sailing for return tonight. The Daisy Gadsby carries no passengers.

TRAILS OPEN AGAIN.

The trails up Mt. Wilson, which were made impassable by the recent floods are open to travel. A large number of persons reached the top of the mountain yesterday without serious difficulty. Mrs. W. E. Corry, wife of the manager of Mt. Wilson Hotel, made the trip to the city Saturday. The hotel was isolated for several days.

IS HAVEN FOR MEDICAL FAKERS.

State Board of Health Official Is Critical.

Says Long Beach Tolerates Many Quack Healers.

Reclamation Scheme Involves Enormous Expenditure.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, March 8.—This city is a haven for medical fakers, according to an official of the State Board of Health, who, late yesterday arrested "Dr." George W. Jordan on the charge of practicing medicine without a license. This is the third arrest on this charge here in ten days, and there are said to be more to follow. Last week, according to a State Medical Board official, there were six detectives from working up evidence against a half-dozen men and women, most of whom cannot, and all of whom did not, secure a license for the practice of medicine.

Jordan called himself a neurologist, and claimed that his occupation did not call for a State license. Nevertheless, the State officials claim that Jordan has been practicing medicine as defined by law.

Leon Patrick, a detective employed by the State secured the evidence against Jordan and attested to the complaint against him. Patrick states that Jordan had a large practice, with a sumptuous suite of offices in the National Bank building. Patrick, the negro, who masqueraded as "Major Ruff," the Western Hindoo Mystic and Healer, and who was arrested yesterday, still hangs in the city jail, strumming incessantly on his banjo, singing plantation songs, which are incongruous when associated with his Hindu costume. The other prisoners in the jail at one time clamored for an end to the strumming, but "Ruff" refused to quit. He has been unable to raise bail money. Jordan was more successful, and is at liberty awaiting a hearing before Justice Underwood. "The people of this town seem to be well disposed toward quacks of all sorts," said a Board of Health official. "At one time, according to information which reached our office, there were no less than twenty-four quack doctors who had no right to the prefix and who were practicing medicine profitably here without a State license. Some of these are now since we arrested three of them, number, but there are perhaps a dozen more who are violating the law."

WILL COST A MILLION.

According to estimates made by City Engineer Dupuy, it will cost $1,000,000 to reclaim the low sections of Northwest Long Beach, which are annually overflowed by the Los Angeles River. This consists in excavating a channel 200 feet wide and ten feet deep at high tide, from the harbor up the Carrizo slough to Willow street. Dupuy figures that this could be done under the emergency bond act, on an assessment of $100,000. The improvement of the property affected, and would increase property values in that neighborhood about $1,000,000.

The plan calls for the condemnation of 139 acres, or fifty acres of 14000 an acre, and seventy acres of 20000 an acre, a total of $140,000. The water course, 18,000 feet long, would require the excavation of 1,500,000 feet of earth, at a cost of $240,000. The redwood bulkhead of two roadways the entire length of the canal would entail an expense of $240,000, bridges would cost $100,000 and engineering and supervision $40,000. The Councilmen think that the matter would not be favorably received by the people of the district affected at this time, and the report has been tabled.

AUTO LINE.

John G. Doyle of Phoenix, who owns a Ford auto, sought a sign painter, and had him paint a legend "Fine avenue and East Fourth street, fare 1 cent," on a piece of cloth. This he planned to the front of his machine and, going to the corner of Pine and Ocean streets, he would start an auto stage line out Atlantic avenue, from Pine and Ocean streets to Willow street.

One of the auto bus drivers stated that he took in $12.50 in fare yesterday. Others state that they average $8 per day, making trips to the city in ten minutes, returning in the same time, and find it infinitely better than to stand at the curb all day waiting for a possible fare of 10c per hour. The auto drivers pay a license to the city as public conveyance. Many persons have been arrested for a ride out into the country, to town and then return to the starting point for pleasure, as the ride of over six miles for 15c.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Officers and members of the Men's Christian Association of Nevada will gather here next week for a convention. The Y.M.C.A. convention will begin Thursday evening and will end the day evening. A banquet for the members of the association will be held at Hotel Virginia on opening night. Booker T. Washington, former Vice-President of the association, will be the guest of honor at the banquet. There will be a quest for high school members of the association at the First M. E. Church, Friday afternoon, and Saturday and Sunday will be held in First Baptist Church. On Sunday pupils of most of the churches will be occupied by prominent Y. workers.

At Fourth street and American street, after noon, Mrs. A. L. Berry of No. 118 East 4th street, who was riding a bicycle, was bruised and bumped and the machine reduced to a wreck. The line was required to quit the location which arose between the women in the machine and Mrs. Berry, who stated that she was riding to the city and was on the way, and he was run over.

WEDDING ENDS IN RIOT CALL.

POLICEMAN IS STABBED IN LEG
DURING THE MELEE.

Evicted Guests Attempt to Storm House When Police Arrive on the Scene—Their Arrest Follows and Wedding Guests Abuse Officers, Who Send in Call for Assistance.

The wedding of Miss Pauline Davidson to Robert Randall at the home of the bride's parents, No. 912 Temple street, will live long in the memory of the principals and all the guests. It ended in a riot. Following are the results:

Patrolman W. F. Cantwell was stabbed seriously in the left leg. J. J. Hightower is under arrest on suspicion of being the man who wielded the knife.

Mrs. Ham Cohen, a wedding guest, is under arrest for battery, having tried hard to stave in the helmet of Patrolman Cantwell.

Ham Cohen, a wedding guest, is under arrest for disturbing the peace. Aliza Cohen is under arrest for disturbing the peace.

Nathan Kaufman is under arrest, booked as "drunk and hold."

The peculiar circumstances in the case is that the cause of the riot—three intoxicated guests who had been refused admittance to the festive home—were arrested temporarily, but made their escape.

Patrolmen Cantwell and Wolfe saw the three evicted guests clamoring loudly, to the accompaniment of beating upon the door, for admittance to the home, in which the wedding was in full swing.

They took hold of them and started for a near-by police box to call the patrol wagon. The arrested ones set up such a howl that all the wedding guests came rushing down the stairs of the Davidson home to see what was the trouble.

According to Cantwell, they rushed the two officers and their prisoners, who were freed and who made certain their freedom by running as fast as their legs would carry them.

Then the others, surrounding the police, began using abusive language. The police box was reached and a riot call submitted, resulting in the arrival, soon thereafter, of a double carload of patrolmen and detectives from Central Station.

But before the riot reserves arrived, one man rushed out of the crowd and stabbed Patrolman Cantwell. He dropped the knife as he ran off, but Cantwell caught up with him and kept him in control until the help arrived. This man, according to the officer, is Hightower, not believed to have been a guest at the Davidson-Randall wedding.

The others were arrested as being the leaders in the riot. The ball of each was set at $100, with the exception of Hightower, who was not allowed bail at all.

ROB. THEN BEAT JAPS.

T. Yasanti and J. Naki, two Japanese living at No. 1115 Garfield avenue, were held up on North Alameda street near Aliso street, last night by three Mexican bandits who robbed both men of watches and about $115 in cash and then beat both of them badly about the face. The Japs were treated at the Receiving Hospital. The Mexicans made their escape.

NORTH STAR'S ROMANCE.

"The Romance of the North Star" will be the subject of a lecture to be given by William H. Knight, chairman of the Southern California Academy of Sciences, before the members and friends of the Astronomy Club at the Los Angeles High School on North Hill street tomorrow evening. The public is invited.

ROSES FOR FLORAL YEAR.
 Our good people must not fail to remember that next year is to be "flower year" for Southern California. We intend to open the eyes of every visitor, no matter how fair his own home State, to the unequalled floral beauty of the sensuous Southwest. Nature is co-operating with us by supplying the ground with a generous and copious moisture. The time is opportune for planting rose trees. Every tree started now will be yielding a store of color and fragrance to celebrate the historic year of 1915.

Then the institution of a floral festival for the whole Southland no better contribution is possible as our share of the general thanksgiving. It is pretty, poetic and practical. Plant your rose trees now. The digging is fine, the air is all sparkle and sunshine, the sap is hissing through the green of every blade of grass; the force of pregnant nature trembles in the rich soil and calls for expression in every Californian heart. Plant roses.

GEN. VELASCO.
 From the long record of crime, brigandage, greed, theft, assassination and murder that is trailing with blood the course of the present reign of terror in poor bedeviled Mexico it is pleasant to turn to one instance of loyalty to cause and devotion to duty, all too rare in a general scramble for the spoils. Mexico has plenty of real patriots waiting in the background, unable to find a solution of the present troubles, hampered, too, by the attitude of our own government.

She has, however, one hero on the firing line. Gen. Velasco, in charge of the loyalarrison in Torreon, is a man who places his country before the chance to plunder, and his oath of allegiance higher than any personal gain. In indignantly turning down the bribe of $2,000,000, offered him by the rebels to betray his trust, he has written a clean paragraph across the present badly blotched page of Mexican history. Unlike many rebel "generals," he does not carry his patriotism in his pocketbook.

A STUDY OF FACTS.
 Eighteen millions of dollars is appropriated for the Department of Agriculture next year and one million more than last year. Unusual Federal agricultural aids are authorized, among which are cold-storage investigations of the egg and preserved fish industries and experiments in how to increase the egg supply.

The Census Bureau in the Interior Department urges the establishment of a permanent census office, with a five-years' census of population instead of ten years as now. We have a five-years' census of manufactures and agriculture, but Mr. S. N. D. North, former president of the Federal Census Bureau, declares that, while both are admirable and necessary, the need for either is not quite so great as a more frequent count of our growing, shifting, composite people.

Conventions between nations, basing their actions upon statistical information obtained from their census bureaus, have codified "the rules of the road" at sea, wireless telegraphy regulations and international sanitary regulations. Forty nations have adopted and are using the metric system of money, weights and measures. "This agency," says Mr. North, "for the convenience and simplification of international commerce and intercourse has brought to the world a gain which cannot be measured even in statistical terms."

The principal reports which the Census Bureau expects to issue, as stated by Director W. J. Harris, are the general reports on electrical industries for the year 1912; a report on wealth, debt, and taxation for 1912; the census of manufactures for 1914; the census of agriculture for 1915; religious bodies, 1916, and water transportation, 1916. In addition there will be issued the usual annual reports.

The special reports will include studies on racial classes of population; population of metropolitan districts; Indian population; negro population; supplementary occupation statistics, embracing occupations of adults and children; general statistics of cities; statistical atlas; plantation study in the Southern States; stability of farm population; inmates of institutions.

No study pursued in our higher institutions of learning would be so useful to the student as a study of statistics. To know what is going on in the world today is a better preparation for the activities of life than a knowledge of what was done and said in the age of Pericles. A knowledge of German is better than a knowledge of Greek. The citizen of Los Angeles who is posted concerning the wealth, the public improvements and the debt, the taxation of the city and the extent of its manufactures and commerce is better equipped for the daily struggle for daily bread than if he knew all the details of the fall of the Bourbons in France, or the triumph of the Tudors in England.

It is well said by a writer in an eastern exchange: "May we not hope that the time will come when all the great nations will recognize and accept the fact that the unification of international statistics will prove an instrumentality equally potent for the uplift of the human race in every land."

PROTECTION TO LABOR.

In San Francisco, at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, there will be minarets and spires piercing the heavens. There will be vast bubbles of glass and steel swinging in the air. There will be acres of floor space crowded with wonders of mechanism, splendors of art, and displays of genius, and energy and toil of men in every conceivable field of human effort. Around the exposition site will be great marts of trade, iron-laced highways, palaces of industry and miles of beautiful homes.

All will be the work of laborers who, with alert brains guiding trained muscles and deft fingers, have transformed Nature's crude forms and forces into ten thousand articles of use and beauty, which, but for their work, would have been uncreated, unshaped and valueless to mankind.

The workers who will have created all this will not have been L.W.W.'s, or soap-kitchen patrons, or attendants upon soap-box orators who howl diatribes against loathsome capitalism. It is the hand workers and not the jaw workers who produce things. If from the Panama-Pacific Exposition there should be extracted the results achieved by honest labor there would remain only the dust and ashes left by the earthquake fire.

Half-baked dabblers in political economy prate about the labor cost and the raw material cost of manufactured articles. There is no cost other than labor cost in anything that man has ever made, from a hair pin to a twenty-thousand-ton steamship, from a post-and-rail fence to a cathedral. What was your gimlet or saw or hammer worth when it was iron ore in the depths of an unopened mine? What was the lumber in your house worth when it was a part of a tree in an unsurveyed forest to which there was no road? What was your shirt worth when it was unpicked cotton? What was your coat worth when it adorned an unshorn sheep? What were your shoes worth when they were galloping about as part of the back of a steer?

Labor gathers the fescues and with loom and shuttle transforms them into fabrics of use and beauty. Labor hoists the ore and seethes it with fuel that labor has brought from the mine, and hammers and fashions it into ponderous rail and glittering blade. Labor lays low the green-plumed forest monarch and sends his huge form screaming under the gang-saws and makes material for the building of palaces and cottages. It is the dew of toil alone that nurtures a nation from poverty to affluence.

The Republican party was organized sixty years ago to defend and promote the interests of the free laborers of the United States. To this principle of its life it has ever been loyal. It effectuated its purpose by the doctrine of protection to American industry by means of a tariff on foreign-made goods, equal to the difference between the wages paid in Europe and the wages paid in America. Under this policy the people prospered beyond those of any other nation on earth.

Democratic hunger for small offices, combined with mad Rooseveltian ambition for power, have resulted in an abandonment for a time at least—of the protective policy. The present task of the reorganized and rejuvenated Republican party is to restore protection to our Federal laws. The Republicans who seek to bring this about care little one way or the other for the fads which so-called Progressivist advocates, but they do care for a restoration of protection. They do care to preserve our citrus industry from Sicilian competition, the laborers on our farms from contending with Argentine and Australian workers and Cuban sugar growers and Hindu laborers in the British Columbia lumber mills.

The Wilson-Underwood tariff will not hurt the Progressive workmen who never work and who hang about the deadfalls and dams the Republican party between drinks, but it will deprive 200,000 honest workmen on the Coast of their jobs, and for that reason the Republican party is anxious to carry the next Congress and in due course restore a protective tariff and exile the egotistical, obstinate personality that now occupies the White House.

Incidentally the Republican party in this State does not favor popular reversal of Supreme Court decisions, nor a law compelling school children to refrain from wearing patent leather shoes, nor a law to create a commission to examine barbers and license only those who advertise in the Los Angeles one-cent, Progressive journals, and it does not favor the re-election of that insane ass, Hiram W. Johnson.

It does favor: Protection to those who work in the citrus orchards.

Protection to those who work in the lumber mills.

Protection to those who work on the sheep ranges.

Protection to those who work on the beet-sugar farms and in the beet-sugar factories.

MR. WILSON'S MEMORY.
 Mr. Wilson has faced the business men of this country as though he had cause to be indignant at their prosperity. His administration has treated them without sympathy and forced legislation without consideration for them. The Democrats have become so Socialistic that they are particularly fearful of admitting that any good can come out of so-called capitalism.

How completely a shift of circumstances alters our outlook upon life! Mr. Wilson seems to have forgotten the day when he went, hat in hand, and asked Mr. Carnegie for a pension. At that time Mr. Wilson never dreamed that he would be President—and so never considered what policies and attitudes were necessary for one charged with the hope of reelection. In those days he did not condemn so-called capitalism. He was willing—nay, anxious—to end his days living off the bounty of a great manufacturer.

But how have conditions changed! The beggar is horsed and the lance of authority is lowered at the group of business men whom Mr. Wilson did not oppose when he asked Andrew Carnegie for a pension. Mr. Wilson is now at the head of this nation—but though the individual may be transplanted from one plane of life to another, the character remains unchanged. He who was a sycophant to the millionaire when it seemed opportune to be so is now the sycophant to the mob for the same reason.

Gov. Johnson is Running Again.

NEW STATUS OF POETS.

From Caedmon to Dryden poets extolled by the patronage of those whom they flattered. The minstrels sang lays appealing to the pride and sympathies of the lords and ladies; the rhymesters and genuines that succeeded dedicated their productions to lords and ladies who were financially equipped to give the poets a substantial return for the honor, or pleasure, of being flattered. Pope, rendered independent by the sale of his books, enjoyed his new liberty with innocent pleasure and prided himself on the fact that he was not dependent on patronage. But even since his day it has been rare to find a genius who has lived by poetry alone. Alfred Noyes does.

Poets usually have been, and too frequently are, vain, impoverished, hypersensitive, and not personally attractive. But Noyes is polished, sustains the role of a society man, and has been called to join the faculty of Princeton University, where he will lecture on contemporary literature. This recognition of his ability is all the more remarkable because of his comparative youth, for men do not usually become famous until they are old or dead. Noyes is 32. He treats poetry as a profession and makes it pay; he believes that poetry should comment on current events—although that belief has only recently been put into force—and is not much in sympathy with the idle dreamer.

It is interesting to know that he wrote his first epic at the age of 14, a production of several thousand lines, describing allegorically the voyage through life as on a ship. At the age of 19 his first poem was published, and during the past ten years he has published ten volumes of verse.

Irrespective of the quality of his verse—and he is a master of the lyrical form—Noyes must be credited with having done much to dignify the status of the poets. He wears his hair cut short; he does not indulge in scandalous diversions; he makes no furious outbursts against his critics, and his "esthetic sense" does not protrude to the annoyance of those who know him and those who know of him.

THE FORCE OF GOOD EXAMPLE.

The example of all the great teachers—the men who have influenced nations and established religions—the example, more than the preaching, has been the sustaining inspiration for their disciples to lead exemplary lives. But too frequently we find that moralists are of the mettle of one of Shakespeare's characters, who "would rather give advice to twenty than be one of twenty to follow mine own instructions."

It has been said that it takes a drunkard to deliver a temperance lecture, but the abstemious lives of Confucius, Buddha and Mohammed have been the greatest incentives to their followers in walking along the narrow trail of probity. Truly, the man who has looked long and looked often on the wine when it was red, or the more golden-tinted juice of the grape that is favored among the connoisseurs, is well equipped to dwell on the harrowing effects of such indulgences. But the potentiality of his argument is invalidated unless there is also the example—the actual abstinence by the one who elucidates the evils of lasting alcoholic beverages.

No Mohammedan will touch intoxicating liquor because the prophet of Allah forbade such indulgence, and himself abstained. And it has ever been so. Those who wish to have influence and to lead must set the example.

Consider the example of Marcus Aurelius, the philosophical Emperor, who tried to stem the flood of degenerate indulgences at Rome by sound advice and trenchant moral precepts. But he did not confine himself to words alone; he headed his own advice; he was abstemious and asked no man to do better and cleaner life than he himself led. His influence was great—and it is to this day—but what would men call him but he preached morality and gratified his own appetite with unrestrained license! Would he not have been a hypocrite of the most contemptible type?

Take any one of the great leaders who have strengthened the moral fiber of society and it will be seen that they practiced all that they preached. John Knox, Luther, Calvin, Wesley, Alexander Campbell lived temperate lives that they might the better induce their disciples to do likewise. Had they not done so the only attention given to them would have been by satirists—they would have been hissed and ridiculed and branded as hypocrites.

They did not consider it necessary to swill on the brew of Circe, and become bores, so that out of experience they might warn their fellows—after the manner of certain temperance lecturers and reformers of this day.

And H. E. Tobias Earl will refrain from bibulous indulgences it is likely that his employees will give heed to his advice and others respecting temperance. If he will quit drinking wine and keep away from champagne suppers it will be easier for him to get his editors, his reporters, his solicitors and all other employees connected with his shop to stay out of beer saloons. The value of example is far greater than the value of advice, and the man who indulges in champagne, but so fears for the moral welfare of his employees that he forbids them even a mug of beer, can only be referred to as a sniffling hypocrite.

When Topolous comes home from a champagne spread at his club or some hotel, and delivers himself of a pompous sermon to his employees, warning them that they will be fired if they are caught in a place where liquors are served, his words have precious little effect. The Times is in sympathy with temperance reform—so much so that it seeks to reform Topolous Earl, who now feels obliged to induce some fellow-preacher to vouch for him in his newspapers every day. If reformer Topolous would but reform himself he would not be obliged to print so many letters of recommendation seeking to bolster up his tottering sheets; if he would himself set the example he would not be compelled to resort to such extreme measures to keep his advertising men and reporters and editors out of places where liquor is served.

THE MILKMAN.

WALT MASON IN THE TIMES.

The milkman goes his weary way before the rising of the sun; he earns a hundred bones a day and often takes in less than one. While lucky people snore and drowse, and bask in dreams of rare delight, he takes a stool and milks his cow, about the middle of the night. If you have milked an old red cow, humped over a big six-gallon pail, and had her sweat up on the brow with seven feet of burry tail, you'll know the milkman ought to get a plunk for every pint he sells; he earns his pay in blood and sweat, and sorrow in his bosom dwells. As through the city streets he goes he has to sound his brazen gong, and people wake up from their dose and curse him as he goes along. He has to stagger through the snow when others stay at home and snore; and through the rain he has to go, to take the cow-joke to your door. Through storm and flood and sun and rain the milkman goes upon the jump, and all his customers complain and make allusions to his pump. Because one milkman milks the creek, instead of milking spotted cows, against the whole brave tribe we kick and stir up everlasting rows. Yet patiently they go their way, distributing their healthful juice, and what they do not get in pay they have to take out in abuse.

Husbands.

[T. P.'s Weekly, London:] I venture to say that the subject is one of interest to women, also that few subjects have been treated so unjustly. I'm just culling my brains to try and recall one natural and convincing specimen of the genus in the whole range of fiction and I cannot, and we all know the stock figure presented by the old-fashioned lady essayist—the chivalrous protector with the strong brave face and gentle eyes, whose lips ever form words of wisdom. On the whole, perhaps, the Bayard of the Home Magazine of the sixties was as true to life as some of the most recent portraits, where there is hardly an attempt made to hide his right to the possession of a large pair of boots.

"Ate a National Bank."

[Indianapolis News:] "James Whitcomb Riley," said Dr. J. E. Craven, dentist, "carries a great quantity of gold in his mouth. One day, seated in the operating chair, while some minor repair work was going on, I left him for a moment. I heard a gentle murmur. Mr. Riley had taken up a hand mirror, was looking at his teeth, and indulging in a talk to himself. 'Well, well, well,' said the poet, 'what a quantity of gold. Looks as if I had eaten a national bank and had forgotten to pick my teeth after dinner!'"

ORANGE PEEL.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

I have been reading that orange-peel joke for years, but I never seriously believed that anybody could ever be so absurd as to actually slide on a piece. Not anybody nice, and sensible, and dignified like me.

It is dreadful to think that one small piece of common California orange peel, dropped by some careless person who had been rude enough to eat in the street, could be fraught with so much human tragedy. Heavens, one will have to take the mother-in-law joke seriously after this! Who knows but what that, too, can bring one to the receiving hospital?

Picture to yourself a self-respecting young person sailing forth in the full flush of gentle pride and blithesome confidence, unwary, unafraid. It was the first evening of the fashion show and I had left myself one delicious half-hour in which to indulge an array of vanity before joining some friends at the theater. Clear of conscience, innocent of guile, radiant with amiability, at peace with the world, what had I done that the gods should thus make violent sport of me? Oh, it's monstrous!

The orange-peel joke is pure-blood American, because all American jokes and violent calamity for some one in the last picture.

I have a miserable feeling that on that fatal night I was the quintessential essence of an American joke. I commenced my stroll down Broadway with dignity and grace—and then it happened.

The effect was immediate and startling. Not all my tango lessons could save me. With lightning velocity I executed some entirely unheeded movements and sat down. I, Alma Whitaker, sat down in the middle of the sidewalk on Broadway, vulgarly, loudly, ostentatiously, and the darts in my 50-cent silk stockings were obvious to a brutal, unfeeling world.

Thank heaven, they were darned! Sister, never put off till tomorrow the darn you can do today. This thing might have happened to you.

The crowd was intensely interested. I had chosen a well-populated scene and I gained more scrutiny and attention in that dreadful moment than I had ever known before. Publicity is all very well, sister. If you can select its form and stage-manage the act. Otherwise it hath no charms.

After a scalding interval in which I utterly failed in all that graceful, ladylike tact and gentility with which my parents strove so hard to imbue me, some one helped me up. My hat was very, my dress very dirty, and one of those limbs which it is so very improper for a female to possess was swelling with disgusting, visible arrogance. It seemed to be peculiarly proud of itself and clamoring for attention.

Various members of the crowd eyed me with the deepest suspicion—let alone. An officer led the traffic go bang and directed his attention exclusively to me.

"How did it happen?" he demanded, with all the severity and majesty of the law behind him. I shuddered guiltily as I hung upon the arm of a perfect stranger. How indeed?

They ultimately decided I was quite respectable and harmless. They carried me to the Receiving Hospital—the one bright spot in all the tragedy.

A receiving hospital is a very interesting place. You are at once nobody in particular and the whole cheese. A business-like doctor and an adorable nurse concentrate attention on your woes. In almost as short a time as it took to happen you are bandaged up and comforted. They don't actually kiss the place, but in other respects they are as good, and better, than mother. If I could have the Receiving Hospital without the street performance I believe I'd go through it all again.

And in their records my honorable name, my interesting age, my respectable address and my lofty occupation are followed by the puny, paltry, lowly cause of accident—a little piece of orange peel!

Ugh! A Packard motor car, a runaway horse, a falling building, a hotel fire, an impious oyster, yes, even an unguarded hatpin would have been more worthy. How are the proud mortals!

And now the glad world will not know me for, lo, these many days. The excluded life has been forced upon me by a low, mean, irresponsible, contemptible little bit of orange peel. My foot is twice as big as my head and finds itself elevated to the distinction of a separate chair. All my sweet self-confidence has been undermined, all my cheerful amiability dispelled.

Even my friends have deserted me, for the calamity is not great enough to call for flowers and bedside visits, for wine jellies and eau de cologne. Only great enough to crack my pride, disintegrate my dignity. Where formerly I trod with glad assurance I now hobble on a stick and someone else's arm. Where once there tripped a blithe number 4 now hangs a medicated bundle of preposterous dimensions.

My stolid British blood refuses to see the point of the despicable American orange-peel joke.

Years' Engineering Feats.

[American Machinist:] Under modern conditions the perpetual cry of all who handle tools is power, more power. The year 1913 will be famous in the annals of engineering for the witnessing the completion of the Panama Canal, but two other engineering feats must not be forgotten in the glamour of this great enterprise. The year has seen the completion of two of the greatest power plants in the world. The Mississippi and the Tennessee Rivers have been harnessed and will in future supply light, heat and power to thousands of people. A bridge has been put on the Mississippi at Keokuk, and at Hale's Bar the Tennessee River feels for the first time the restraining hand of the dam. The Tennessee power station is a mere baby compared with the vast project of supplying St. Louis with 231,000 kilowatts of power from the great Keokuk dam, a work second only to the Nile dam at Assuan, and the finishing of both projects this year is noteworthy. The question must strike everyone, how long will it be before every river has its power station, every town its cheap power and light?

Cat Cure for Rheumatism.

[Newark News:] When the bill to levy a tax of $1 a head on cats was before the Legislature a year or two ago, many considered it an excellent measure. But how fortunate that it did not become a law and result in the destruction of all cats not worth $1 per annum—the poll tax value of a man. The German Minister to Haiti has discovered that the cat is a cure for rheumatism. The sufferer takes the cat to bed after the animal's fur has been carefully treated with a vacuum cleaner, and the rheumatism of the patient is absorbed by the cat. The cure of the man is complete if the treatment is continued long enough, but the cat dies. The majority of people have rheumatism—also cats. Here's a plan to get rid of both.

BEAVERS BEAT SANTA MARIA.

But Yennigans Lose to the Final Club.

Busker Rojas Too Much for the Fans.

Two Homers Scored in the Second Game.

(BY DIRECT WIRE-SPECIALS DISPATCH.) SANTA MARIA, March 8.—The Beavers pulled off a double-header this afternoon and broke even. The Yennigans lost the first contest to the Final Club by a score of 3 to 1 and the regulars won from Santa Maria by a score of 3 to 2. Billy Rodgers played second for the Final boys, and to his best work and to Rojas's clever pitching the Yennigans owe their defeat. Rojas worked for five innings, but one run and no hits were scored off his delivery.

The local boy had a fast drop working, which the Portland heavy-stopper could not solve. El West and Higginbotham pitched for the Yennigans. The second contest was featureless and very much one-sided.

Palmar and Jack Gilligan twisted for Santa Maria. The game was already lost before "Handsome Jack" took the mound. Harry Krause and Frankbach twisted for the regulars, Hawthorn doing the receiving. Two home runs were scored in this contest, Krause getting the first one and Higley of the locals the next.

Following is the score:

Santa Maria..... 3 4 4
Regulares..... 3 1 1
Batteries—Palmar, Gilligan and O'Leary; Krause, Frankbach and Hawthorn.

Goofs Are Beaten.

A brilliant stop and an infield single. Carly tried to steal second just to find out how May's arm was working. He found it in good shape. Leard smashed to right. Wolfgang straddled the ball, but could do nothing more.

Leard noted this, and boldly lit out for third, where he was overtaken by Blackburn's relay. McDonnell located a safe spot in center, having an adventurous disposition, stole second. Schreiber proved himself a joy-killer by swallowing Bayless's fly.

The fourth inning nothing more eventful than a single and a stolen base by the ambitious Sheehan. Kieffer's friends feared for his safety in the fifth. With one down he passed Wolfgang. May sent the ball toward Litchi at several miles a minute, and Lou discretely backed up. A pass to Quaders filled the bases. Right here Kieffer pitched himself back into the esteem of the crowd by fanning Walsh and Sheehan.

CARLISLE AGAIN. For the Tigers in this inning, Carlisle laid down a bunt that left the ball burning a hole in the grass about ten feet from the plate. The opposition was caught flat-footed.

Carly again came to grief at second. Quaders smothering out one of those hit-and-run things, and serving Leard something wide and unhit. Leard later perished, as did McDonnell.

At the beginning of the sixth, a half-headed man with a red nose made his appearance.

The crowd was quick to recognize "Speck" and was on its feet before Finney could get by with the introduction. Harkness smiled pleasantly, and fanned Schreiber and Blackburn. Plainly, "Speck" is in for a satisfactory season. Halstein then hit him for a single, but that didn't matter, as Barbour grounded to McCardle, and made his appearance, as was perfectly willing for the crowd to see it, but further than this he declined to display anything. Unconcerned as could be, he walked Kane, and merrily smiled when McCardle leaned on one for two bases, scoring Johnny.

"SPECK" LANDS. Harkness opened the seventh with a single, thereby realizing the ambition of a lifetime. Carlisle forced him, and Walter at last attained his end, by stealing second. This was nice to watch, but it accomplished nothing for the cause, as those who followed were unable to aid him.

Bayless and McDonnell pulled off an acrobatic stunt in the eighth that brought much grief and humiliation to the Angels. Ed Walker, and Sheehan put a fly in short right that looked safe until Bayless galloped in and picked it off his instep. Dick, without pausing to right himself, whipped the ball to McDonnell. "Speck" angled the sphere out from Walsh's gleaming spikes, doubling the big fellow.

McCardle made it a satisfactory inning by catching Schreiber's fly in deep left while going at full tilt.

It was in the eighth that this same thing pulled off the prize base-running stunt of the springing season. He walked, and took second on McCardle's sacrifice. Litchi backed Sheehan up with a hard grounder. Sheehan shot the ball to first, and Kane, rounding third, aimed straight for the plate. Halstein, seeing what was up, ran off first to meet Sheehan's throw, and whirled the ball to Mayer, but Kane beat the play in a cloud of dust. Agnew forced Litchi at second.

Harkness here struck the crowd dumb with his second single, an unequivocal swat to center. When he followed this up by stealing second, strong man swooned. Carlisle was no overcomer by this deed that he fanned. Rah for "Speck."

FOR NATIONAL PROHIBITION.Flying Squadron to Visit the Moving Picture Men.

PARADENA, March 9.—The campaign of the Flying Squadron of America, which body is composed of some of the big guns of the national prohibition movement, which is to be carried on at a cost of over a quarter of a million dollars, will be opened in Pasadena, Charles R. Burger, a local resident and chairman of the California Prohibition party, has received word to this effect.

"I have just been notified," said Burger yesterday, "that because of the importance of the proposed prohibition amendments now before the people of California and other Pacific Coast States, the date for the commencement of this campaign has been changed from November, the month for which it was planned, to October 1. The Flying Squadron of America, which will be the most representative set of men ever undertaken such a task, will make eighteen speeches a day and will hold meetings in forty-eight capital cities and in all of the university cities and towns of the country. The determination to open this great campaign for national prohibition in Pasadena means much to Prohibitionists here.

"No time will be lost in making arrangements for the big Pasadena meetings. This Flying Squadron is non-partisan. That is, it is composed of Republicans, Democrats and Prohibitionists. The members of it are former Gov. Charles J. Hanly of Indiana, Congressman Richmond P. Hobson of Alabama, ex-Gov. Hoch of Kansas, Gov. Glenn of North Carolina, Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, head of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of the State of Georgia; Gov. West of Oregon, Daniel A. Poling, who heads the Christian Endeavor Union of the United States; Eugene W. Chaffin, twice Prohibition candidate for President, and Oliver W. Stewart of Illinois.

"The purpose of the campaign will be to obtain 5,000,000 signatures to a petition urging national prohibition. The plans were made at a recent meeting of the Anti-Saloon League at Columbus, O., which meeting was attended by over 4000 delegates. The Presbyterian churches of Pittsburgh alone have arranged to contribute the services of 100 men in the work.

The news that Pasadena has been selected as the place for the first of the meetings is of such importance that local meetings will probably be held within a few days to make preliminary arrangements. According to Burger, the speakers will also hold many roving meetings in Los Angeles. They will probably go to Los Angeles from here. Both Pasadena and Los Angeles come in the list of university cities.

FRIENDS ARE ANXIOUS.
Some uneasiness was felt last night at Alpine Tavern on Mt. Lowe for the safety of L. B. Austin, proprietor of the Alpine Tavern, who is the only person in camp and it is thought by his friends that he is amply supplied with provisions. However, those to Mt. Lowe have been able to learn little about him.

While it was reported several days ago by the city forest ranger at the mouth of the canyon that provisions may be taken to the summit by the way of Mt. Lowe, it was declared at Alpine Tavern last night that as a matter of fact, no one has made the trip between the two places except some forest rangers, who did so with great difficulty.

The fact that trails were pretty well washed out by the storm in all parts of the mountains near Pasadena yesterday only seemed to make the mountains the greater drawing card. Five hundred persons climbed Mt. Wilson by the Sierra Madre trail, which has been repaired, and many more ascended Mt. Lowe.

Work has been recommenced on the toll road to the summit of Mt. Wilson, which is being widened from three to six feet by the Carnegie Observatory so that the new 160-inch lens may be taken to the place where the large telescope is to be mounted, and it is hoped by those who are carrying on the work that the road will be completed by April 1, in spite of the setback they suffered on account of the rain.

DIG MAN FILMED.

C. M. Schwab, the steel magnate, and one of the richest men in the country, who is staying at the Hotel Green, yesterday took great interest in the amusement of some of the younger guests at the hotel, who procured a moving picture camera and set it on the lawn in front of the hotel early in the morning to make "movie" films.

The tourists took turns in turning the crank and posing, and some who thought that there should be some romance and dash to the undertaking were delirious when they were at work with the camera to save at least a few feet of the film in it until they had got out pencils and drafted a little scenario. With this and with a guest manager, guest actors and guest camera men, and women, some real "movie" stuff was manufactured. The millionnaire evinced much interest in the process and laughed at the capers of those who posed. He could not, however, be induced to take a part in the little play himself, though later he posed for a picture.

MANY ATTEND CONCERT.
No entertainment given at the Valley Hunt club this season has called out a larger attendance of club members and their friends, than the concert given Saturday evening, when Mrs. Estelle Hart Dreyfus, contralto, of Los Angeles, assisted by Alfred Wallenstein, "celist," gave a purposeful and melodious program. The ballroom was filled to its utmost seating capacity, and both Mrs. Dreyfus and Wallenstein were given enthusiastic applause and graciously responded with encores. After the program supper was served in the exclusive dining-room, which was decorated with carnations and ferns. Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. Eben Pratt, Clapp, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Mass Meeting Held at Anaheim at Which Plans for Control Were Considered.—News Briefs.

ANAHEIM, March 8.—A mass meeting was held at the Fremont school last evening for the purpose of considering the advisability of organizing a protection district to secure valuable range property against the depredations of the Santa Ana River. S. C. Harrington acted in the capacity of chairman, and E. N. Cook as secretary.

T. H. Bartlett, chairman of the Board of Supervisors gave a brief talk on the river situation and urged that immediate action be taken. H. H. Kallgren responded, after considerable effort they succeeded in rescuing Callahan, who was exhausted by his struggle. He lives at 1100 Broadway avenue. Dr. Palmer, who attended him, says his patient will not experience any ill-effects from his experience.

Callahan ceased to swim further than his strength could stand. He was dashed against the piling near the Santa Ana River and was rescued by the Santa Ana River.

John Rioson of Pomona was swimming to reach Nichols as both the river and the beach were so high that he could not get to shore. He shouted for help. Roy Harvey, who has charge of an exhibit of sea elephants at the Exposition, sprang from the pier into the water about the time the life guards rushed out from the shore.

Callahan, who lives at 2145 Twenty-seventh street, Los Angeles, and Rioson were able to return to the bath-house after emergency treatment on the beach.

The life guards said that while this is regarded as an unusually safe place for bathing, it is not safe for swimming. Callahan was not placed in commission. If this warm weather keeps up, guards will be stationed beyond the breakers in the boat to watch for possible accidents.

Old Sol was responsible for antedating the customary opening of the Venice season by almost a month today. The official opening of the bath-house season was held at the amusement concessions is usually set for Easter Sunday. Today's summer heat in Los Angeles and surrounding towns brought between 30,000 and 40,000 visitors, according to more conservative estimates.

Spring styles were displayed on the Ocean Front walk, where the promenaders exceeded any previous Sunday since last summer. The bath-house was taxed to its utmost capacity, approximately 2000 persons using the plunge during the afternoon.

Thousands disported on the beach, gayly-colored parasols emerged from the winter's hibernation; women in fashionable bathing suits of the French Trouville pattern were plentifully sprinkled among the more sedate costumes supplied by the bath-house management.

Visitors from Los Angeles defied the piercing rays of the sun and lay for hours on the hot sands in their bathing suits. Children played on the beach and waded in the rippling. The surf was not strong and many of the swimmers went as far as the raft, something that has not been done during the winter months.

The morning more than 100 men bathed in a long line and lock-stepped down the beach, a practice that usually marks the opening of the watering-place.

All the amusement concessions were running at full capacity after noon and evening. According to the estimates of Thomas W. Prior, one of the largest amusement promoters here, the day was one of the most successful since last fall when the

HERMOSA BEACH VOTERS WILL DECIDE WHETHER OR NOT LAW-MAKERS ARE TO BE COMPENSATED.

HERMOSA BEACH, March 8.—A petition is being circulated for the purpose of settling the question of paying the law-makers of the city of Hermosa. The proposition to be voted on will be whether the Trustees shall receive as compensation the sum of $10 per month and $2.50 for each extra meeting for not more than six days during the year. The general idea is that the Trustees should receive some compensation for the time that they devote to the city's interests.

CAUGHT BY TIDE.

Mrs. Clark Miller of this place, while in bathing today, was caught by a tide rip and carried out to sea. Fortunately among the many bathers on the beach was Clifton Swartz, who went to the rescue and after a strenuous struggle managed to bring the half-drowned woman back to the beach in safety. The rescue was rather spectacular and when the rescued and rescuer were safe the crowd vented its enthusiasm by cheers and warm congratulations. After working over the woman for a short time, she was taken to her home and medical attendance summoned.

ORANGE GROVES ARE IN BLOOM.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

COVINA, March 8.—Come out and see us—your orange tree in bloom. Come out and see 13,000 acres of orange trees that have put on their Easter finery.

The bloom is almost three weeks early this year, owing probably to the hot weather that followed the long, dreary winter rains. For several days the thermometer has risen to 90 and 92 and 94 in the afternoon, and the sun has beaten down like a September day.

Yet, the days have been indescribably beautiful. The heat does not affect anyone, in this semi-arid climate, and there is always a breeze from the ocean, laden now with the heavy sweetness of the blooming orchards. "The Easter for the orange tree and all the valley's a flower garden."

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

VENICE, March 8.—One man was drowned, and four others experienced narrow escapes today during the bathing hours on the ocean front. Nathan Krystal, 22 years old, living at No. 109 Ocean Front, went into the surf just south of the Ocean Park pier. He could not swim the least bit and was standing up in his waist in water. It is presumed he stepped into a deep hole caused by the heavy winter tides and was unable to summon aid.

When Krystal, who left to go in bathing at 11 o'clock, did not return for some time, his wife became anxious. She sent several relatives and friends to ascertain what had become of her husband. They learned he was seen to enter the water at the foot of Rose avenue, but no one saw him leave. The Venice life guards were notified and a search was made. After diving at various points the guards declared nothing could be found.

Mrs. Krystal, who has a four-weeks' old baby, is prostrated with grief. However, the members of the family have not given up hope though all say that the missing man was in his bathing suit, having left his clothes at the cottage.

Krystal has a brother, Noah Krystal, a ladies' tailor, with rooms in the Orpheum Theater building. A close friend of the beach near Rose avenue was maintained this evening.

At various points the beach is filled with a number of holes which were dug out by the action of the tides and heavy storms of the past winter.

Several narrow escapes from drowning occurred during the day. Walter Callahan went in bathing near Brooks avenue. He got beyond his depth and called for aid. Dana Burks, Innes Kinney and Dave McCreedy, who were with him, succeeded in rescuing Callahan, who was exhausted by his struggle. He lives at 1100 Broadway avenue. Dr. Palmer, who attended him, says his patient will not experience any ill-effects from his experience.

Callahan ceased to swim further than his strength could stand. He was dashed against the piling near the Santa Ana River and was rescued by the Santa Ana River.

John Rioson of Pomona was swimming to reach Nichols as both the river and the beach were so high that he could not get to shore. He shouted for help. Roy Harvey, who has charge of an exhibit of sea elephants at the Exposition, sprang from the pier into the water about the time the life guards rushed out from the shore.

Callahan, who lives at 2145 Twenty-seventh street, Los Angeles, and Rioson were able to return to the bath-house after emergency treatment on the beach.

The life guards said that while this is regarded as an unusually safe place for bathing, it is not safe for swimming. Callahan was not placed in commission. If this warm weather keeps up, guards will be stationed beyond the breakers in the boat to watch for possible accidents.

Old Sol was responsible for antedating the customary opening of the Venice season by almost a month today. The official opening of the bath-house season was held at the amusement concessions is usually set for Easter Sunday. Today's summer heat in Los Angeles and surrounding towns brought between 30,000 and 40,000 visitors, according to more conservative estimates.

Spring styles were displayed on the Ocean Front walk, where the promenaders exceeded any previous Sunday since last summer. The bath-house was taxed to its utmost capacity, approximately 2000 persons using the plunge during the afternoon.

Thousands disported on the beach, gayly-colored parasols emerged from the winter's hibernation; women in fashionable bathing suits of the French Trouville pattern were plentifully sprinkled among the more sedate costumes supplied by the bath-house management.

Visitors from Los Angeles defied the piercing rays of the sun and lay for hours on the hot sands in their bathing suits. Children played on the beach and waded in the rippling. The surf was not strong and many of the swimmers went as far as the raft, something that has not been done during the winter months.

The morning more than 100 men bathed in a long line and lock-stepped down the beach, a practice that usually marks the opening of the watering-place.

All the amusement concessions were running at full capacity after noon and evening. According to the estimates of Thomas W. Prior, one of the largest amusement promoters here, the day was one of the most successful since last fall when the

HERMOSA BEACH VOTERS WILL DECIDE WHETHER OR NOT LAW-MAKERS ARE TO BE COMPENSATED.

HERMOSA BEACH, March 8.—A petition is being circulated for the purpose of settling the question of paying the law-makers of the city of Hermosa. The proposition to be voted on will be whether the Trustees shall receive as compensation the sum of $10 per month and $2.50 for each extra meeting for not more than six days during the year. The general idea is that the Trustees should receive some compensation for the time that they devote to the city's interests.

CAUGHT BY TIDE.

Mrs. Clark Miller of this place, while in bathing today, was caught by a tide rip and carried out to sea. Fortunately among the many bathers on the beach was Clifton Swartz, who went to the rescue and after a strenuous struggle managed to bring the half-drowned woman back to the beach in safety. The rescue was rather spectacular and when the rescued and rescuer were safe the crowd vented its enthusiasm by cheers and warm congratulations. After working over the woman for a short time, she was taken to her home and medical attendance summoned.

lovers of brine and seaweed in the Santa Monica bay district said farewell for the winter.

During the afternoon concert of the Front Street Band, Mrs. W. R. McStay sang several soprano solos very acceptably. She rendered Tosti's "Good-bye," "Carrissima" and selections from the "Red Peacock." The singer will be one of the features of the matinee concerts during the season.

Santa Ana Woman Files Suit to Recover for the Death of Her Husband.—News Briefs.

SANTA ANA, March 8.—Suit for $55,000 damages was begun yesterday by Mrs. Allie M. Cain, widow of J. M. Cain, against the Pacific Electric. Cain and two others were killed on April 17, 1912, when Cain's automobile was struck by a street car on the McFadden-street crossing, inside the city limits. The action does not concern the other victims of the tragedy, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Beard of Glendon, O.

Mrs. Cain asks for $25,000 judgment for herself and $10,000 for each of the three minor children. She claims that the street car was negligent, reckless and careless speed of about fifty miles an hour, and that no warning signal was given in time to avoid the collision.

At the corner's inquest, Conductor Trask said the car was going twenty-five miles an hour at the time of the collision. He said the car was going twenty-five miles an hour at the time of the collision. He said the car was going twenty-five miles an hour at the time of the collision.

Mrs. M. N. Sterling, though discouraged, have not relaxed their effort to locate their daughter, Silva, a slip of a girl, only 16 years old, who mysteriously disappeared Thursday morning without a hint or suggestion of intention of leaving home. With good reasons for believing that Miss Silva was in the hands of a kidnaper, the distraught parents have notified the Sheriff's office, with the result that Sheriff Hammel has sent out a number of his deputies, who are believed, from recent reports, to be on the trail of the runaway couple. The chances are that the young man in the case as supposed to be, will fall into the hands of the law, in view of the fact that the girl is under age.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Any test for toughness, pliability, tensile strength—is a false test. Roofs do not wear out—they dry out. We use no coal tar in this roofing—because coal tar is of gaseous origin and naturally returns to gas, thus drying out too quickly.

Our properly blended asphalt is the result of a quarter-century's experience and tests. They are not of gaseous origin and dry out very slowly.

ANNUAL SPRING SONG FESTIVAL.

MADE CHORUS OF TURNVEREIN GERMANIA CONCERT.

First Appearance of Gifted Norwegian Dramatic Soprano as Soloist—Splendid Interpretation of Great Choral Numbers. Without Orchestral Accompaniment.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

Geising-Sektion Turnverein Germania held last night its annual spring festival of song in Turnverein Hall.

The "Frühlings-fest" is one of the most important concerts of the year given by the male chorus, after several months of arduous preparation. The section is composed of some seventy picked voices, under the direction of Henry Schoenfeld.

To step into the grooved saale der Turnhalle last evening was as though one had been suddenly transported, by some magic means, to any one of a hundred cities and towns of Southern Germany, where such "Gala-Konzerte" are affairs of frequent occurrence.

While the interpretation of the programme was interesting enough, the audience and the performers were much more so. They represented a phase of popular entertainment so sincere and attractive that it is a pity that the concerts of the Turnvereine in Germania are not better known, as they might well be limited.

Young and old in their best Sunday attire had honored the occasion, eager faces were turned toward the stage and appreciative applause greeted each number.

The singers, flushed with musical enthusiasm, gave that earnest, manly and impressive interpretation that choral work only can give, when the participants sing because they love to do it and cannot help entering into the spirit of the song.

Knoeller's "Rose Freilicht," Op. 40, "Helmströmen," "Volkslied," the impressive "Ossian," "Maechtige Linde" (the mighty linden), and the "Broken Vows" of Gruenewald, and the processionals "Germanicus" of great beauty and sentiment comprised the choral work of the section.

Without the assistance of instrumental music, except in the last number, the chorus acquitted itself splendidly; the voices are fresh, well trained, and the men are enthusiastic and thorough. The audience was so pleased that the "Spring on the Rhine" had to be sung. In the last number, Herr I. Blochhoff, baritone, and Fraulein Hanna de Knagenhjelm assisted.

In the first part of the programme the young Norwegian dramatic soprano appeared in the great aria, "Buck Lufsten" from "Lohengrin," and gave as an encore d'Albert's "The Maiden and the Butterfly." Both numbers were well given, as the artist has an excellent technique, having been the pupil of Grieg and is favorably known in concert work both in her native country and Germany.

This was the first appearance here of Fraulein Hanna de Knagenhjelm, who arrived in America only a few weeks ago and who is not unlikely to settle here.

SPIRITUALISTS SCORCHED.
Police Judge Declares Them Fakes and Impostors When Assessing Fines Upon Them.

Reproaching them as "fakes and frauds," Police Judge White Saturday sentenced the Pitzer family of spiritualists to various fines, for obtaining money under false pretenses by running fraudulent seances in their home.

When the mother, Mrs. J. W. Pitzer, heard the Police Judge denounce the practice of the family and pronounce sentence, she fainted. Friends carried her from the courtroom and she later returned to the bar to receive sentence.

M. Pitzer, who did the talking through the arm of the chair, so he could make the sound of the voices of the dead sound as if issuing from a horn, was sentenced to sixty days in jail or $200 fine. Rhoda Pitzer was sentenced to $100 fine or thirty days in jail. The fine of the parents was suspended.

"If you were running a legitimate seance," Police Judge White said, "you would need no paraphernalia, for the spirits of the dead could be recalled as easily without a hollow-voiced chair and a cabinet as with. I believe you are all guilty of a deplorable imposition upon the people you accept as patrons, and you capitalize their pious credulity, debasing the very faith that they had."

Hari-Kari?

JAPAN DEMANDS LOOP-THE-LOOP.

SOLOMON'S WISDOM NEEDED TO DECIDE THE ISSUE.

Two Contracts Stare Lincoln Beachey in the Face, and Manager Pickens Must Settle It—Martin Turned Down as Substitute—Suits on File to Settle.

It's up to Bill Pickens to commit harikari, for it seems certain that Seima Ikubara won't do it. The only other available victim is Lincoln Beachey and looping-the-loop via aeroplane may give quicker results in his case.

Certain it is that a crisis has arrived in the international dispute over Beachey's prospective trip to Japan which he desires to postpone until fall, but which the Japanese promoter, Ikubara, insists must be made now according to contract.

Ikubara says he filed suit in the Superior Court Saturday demanding $100,000 damages or fulfillment of contract. Beachey says he can't make the trip now because two accidents wrecked his machines. Pickens, his manager, says that even though he were now ready to sail there are other contracts awaiting fulfillment.

Beachey is ready to go in the fall and meanwhile is willing to turn over his contract to Glenn Martin, the local aviator. Ikubara says that though he has great respect for the honor of Mr. Martin, he will not possibly do as a substitute because he does not do the loop-the-loop. Beachey, through Pickens, admits he is not as good a lecturer as is Martin, and in a lecture to the Japanese officers is a part of the contract.

But it seems as though there are a dozen Japanese flyers in the Orient, any one of whom can lecture on straight-away flying, and it is the loop-the-loop and the upside-down flying that the Japanese want to see and hear about.

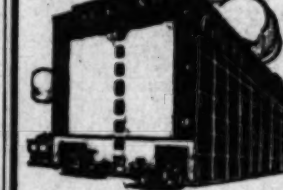

Pickens wrote Ikubara yesterday that it is impossible for Beachey to go now, but that he will go in the fall. Ikubara says the weather in the fall is unruly and, anyhow, he has a contract and has paid $2000 to Beachey in advance, $200 for a railroad ticket and $200 for elegances and cabiograms. He says Beachey must fulfill his contract or he will sue for an injunction in the Federal Court to prevent Beachey from flying anywhere but in Japan until the contract is fulfilled in addition to pushing his civil suit for damages.

Pickens asked Ikubara to confer with Frank A. Garbutt and name with him an arbitration committee, but the wily Japanese says he is only dealing with Beachey and his manager through their contract, which he says must be lived up to or he will be ruined in sportsmanship, reputation and honor. He asserts that he has instructions from Japan to push the legal fight to the limit.

It's the carving knife for Bill, for Beachey says it is up to his manager to handle the case, as he has stated definitely that he cannot make the trip to Japan at this time.

station transformers and equipment. These changes would be made necessary by the increased load on the company's system. To illustrate: The city's wires would be on the company's poles, replacing the company's wires taken down; the city's transformers and meters of large size would supplant the company's transformers and meters of smaller size, and the city's underground cables would occupy the company's ducts; substitution buildings would have to be enlarged, resulting in the company owning one part of a structure and the city the remainder.

In this connection, Harris Trust and Savings Bank, trustee, has been advised by the counsel that the union or co-mingling of public and private property in one inseparable whole, as would result under the arrangement proposed, each part being essential to the successful operation of the other, is forbidden by the Constitution of the State of California, which prohibits expenditure of public funds upon private property, and that the city would not be bound by the proposed contract.

From the beginning of negotiations we have consistently maintained that we could neither legally nor practically enter into any agreement under which the city would make extensions of, additions to, and enlargements and reinforcements of our systems and take possession thereof before they are actually paid for. While your committee, from time to time, stated that such a provision would be desirable from the city's standpoint, we did not fully appreciate, until our last conference with your committee, that this provision was regarded as fundamental and unalterable. We cannot understand why this detail of operation should be considered as fundamental and unalterable. We cannot understand why this detail of operation should be considered as fundamental and unalterable.

Upon learning at our last conference with your committee that this detail of operation was considered as fundamental and unalterable, we have expressed our earnest desire to enter into a contract providing for the use of the city's power within the city and by the city, and we have expressed our earnest desire to enter into a contract providing for the use of the city's power within the city and by the city, and we have expressed our earnest desire to enter into a contract providing for the use of the city's power within the city and by the city.

By written communication, and from time to time in conference, we have expressed our earnest desire to enter into a contract providing for the use of the city's power within the city and by the city, and we have expressed our earnest desire to enter into a contract providing for the use of the city's power within the city and by the city.

Under the direction of a Board of Control, constituted as above stated, the companies will operate, maintain, enlarge and extend their systems, such an extension as is reasonably and properly necessary to care for all consumers within the city and to comply with the requirements of power as shall be agreed upon between the city and the companies and approved by the Railroad Commission of the State of California.

For the use of the companies' distributing systems, for the cost of maintaining the same, for the cost of the city's power within the city, and for the cost of operation and maintenance, the city to pay to the companies such sum as shall be agreed upon between the companies and the city, and approved by the Railroad Commission of the State of California.

Upon the signing of the contract, the companies and the city to join in a petition to the Railroad Commission of the State of California, requesting said commission to make a valuation of the property of each of the companies within the city. sequent to such valuation, which accounts shall at all times be accessible to the city.

(3.) The companies to recognize the fact that the sentiment of the people of Los Angeles, as expressed by a majority vote at previous elections, was in favor of municipal distribution of power, and that the policy of the city authorities at the time of entering into such an agreement and one of the controlling considerations for their assenting to it is to provide as soon as may be without undue delay, for the steam generating plant within the city belonging to the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, may be made from the companies to the city at the termination of the period of this agreement. The price and terms to be fixed by arbitration by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, as the parties may elect. The city shall advise the companies one year prior to the expiration of the agreement whether or not it desires to purchase the companies' systems, and within ninety days after receiving such advice from the city, whether or not they will effect a sale and release the termination of the agreement.

We have for some time been prepared to enter into a contract embodying the foregoing provisions and most sincerely regret that we are unable to understand why such an arrangement did not meet with the approval of your committee. We have also stood ready to enter into a contract for the purchase of the city's power at a price which would be fair to the city, the companies and the consumers. This price could be agreed upon between the city and ourselves or be determined by the Railroad Commission of the State of California.

The acceptance of either of these propositions would, First, produce an immediate substantial revenue to the city of approximately $1,000,000 a year, instead of burdening the consumers with an additional debt of $5,250,000 to construct an unnecessary distributing system, for that system would have to be paid for, and the cost would eventually fall on the consumers.

Second, assure consumers of the lowest possible rates (fixed by the city).

Third, avoid tearing up the streets and putting in new conduits, poles and wires, thus duplicating the present distributing systems, which are at their best unsightly, by the addition of another no more beautiful.

Fourth, avoid the necessity for calling upon the taxpayers to assume an added bonded debt of $5,250,000 for the duplicate distributing system at a time when almost every department of the city government is clamoring for additional facilities, and for the creation of bond issues to acquire them.

Respectfully submitted, SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EDISON COMPANY.
